IGP Islamabad visits National Police Hospital, orders fast track completion

Inspector General of Police (IGP) Islamabad visited the under-construction National Police Hospital at Police Lines Headquarters Islamabad. On this occasion, the DIG Headquarters, the project manager, and other senior police officers were also present.

The IGP Islamabad instructed the hospital administration to accelerate the pace of construction and emphasized that the project must meet global quality standards.

He stated that several welfare initiatives have been launched for Islamabad Police personnel, and the National Police Hospital is one of the key projects in this regard.

He further added that the hospital will provide significant benefits to police officers, their families, and the public in the future. Efforts are being made to ensure maximum relief and facilities for police personnel in all sectors.

Such initiatives will not only improve the well-being of police employees but also boost the morale of their families.

He reiterated that additional measures are being taken for the welfare of police officers and their families, adding that providing maximum facilities and resolving their issues remain among the top priorities of Islamabad Police.
